"TAFT STANDS GUILTY OF CONNIVANCE," REPLIES T. R.

"Never Discovered I Was Dangerous to the People Until I Concluded He Was Useless to the People"

OYSTER BAY, Ma. 5.—In a statement issued here tonight by Colonel Roosevelt in reply to President Taft's speech in Baltimore last night, the colonel says that Mr. Taft knew he was making an untrue statement when he said that the former president expressed the opinion that the antitrust law ought to be repealed.

He also again contradicted the president in regard to the Harvester trust case, saying that at a cabinet meeting in private conversation with him, Mr. Taft "repeatedly and emphatically approved the course actually taken."

The colonel returned this morning from his Maryland tour. He said he expected to remain in Oyster Bay a week before starting on his Ohio campaign. Colonel Roosevelt's statement follows:

With regard to Mr. Taft's opinion about me I have no concern beyond pointing out the sufficiently obvious fact that he never discovered that I was dangerous to the people until I had been obliged to come to the conclusion that he was useless to the people. But his specific statement is to the trustee the checklessness in selecting delegates.

Mr. Tift says I have changed my mind about the antitrust law. He well knows that the position I take now is precisely the position I took

MARYLAND'S PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY ELECTION TODAY

BALTIMORE, May 5.—Maryland's first presidential primary election tomorrow will decide the votes of the delegates this state will send to the national convention. The importance of the election is emphasized by the fact that the law permits no divided delegation.

A victory in Maryland will mean delegates all in a block bound to support the candidate for whom they are instructed until they "conscientiously" believe he no longer has a chance of winning. While this feature of the instruction has been variously interpreted, it is without doubt considered to hold the delegates at least for the first ballot at the national convention.

The names of Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft appear on the Republican ballot, while the Democrats have the privilege of voting for Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Judson Harmon, or Governor Woodrow Wilson. Active campaigns have been waged on behalf of all these candidates and, to judge from the clamor of the opposing leaders, none of them is likely to win by a wide margin.

The election tomorrow will choose 128 delegates to the state convention representing the various counties and the legislative districts of Baltimore county, and each county or district will bind its delegates to vote for a national delegation favorable to the presidential candidate for whom such county or district declares its preference. Victory, therefore, will depend upon the preferential vote by counties or districts, and not upon the popular preference of the state as a whole.

President Taft's supporters expect to carry all the eastern and western counties and at least part of Baltimore. The Roosevelt leaders tonight said they were sure of the western part of the state and confident of winning all the 28 delegates from Baltimore city.

Speaker Champ Clark is backed here by the regular Democratic city organization and his supporters count on all the city delegates and enough from outside to control the convention.

A statement by the Wilson committee counts on 78 delegates, or 13 more than the required majority. It is conceded that the New Jersey mail candidacy has been backed by the anti-organization Democrats who claim for him a large plurality in the counties and have been making a good fight in Baltimore. An uncertain factor in the contest is the negro vote, which is about 25 per cent of the whole, and in some of the eastern and southern counties comprises more than half the Republican suffrage. Under the law the entire Democratic vote will be counted first.

Tafts Flow Unchecked as President Pays Tribute to Life of Archie Butt

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The life of Major Archibald W. Butt, as a soldier, newspaper man, aide to presidents, and lodge member, and his heroic death on the Titanic were commemorated by his commander in chief, President Taft, the secretary of war, a senator of his native state, a contemporary in the service here today.

The tribute President Taft paid to his late aide epitomized all that was said.

"Everybody knew Archie Butt as

MAJOR ARCHIE BUTT.

"He was on the deck of the Titanic exactly like he was everywhere. When tears fill the eyes and the voice is choked, we are felicitated by the memory of what he did.

"President Taft spoke with difficulty and he was forced to an abrupt ending by a failure of voice and a steady flow of tears. Beside Mrs. Taft sat Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Butt of Augusta, Ga. Opposite them sat Secretary Wilson, Secretary Meyer and other prominent officials.

Senator Bacon sat with the members of the Georgia delegation in congress, and throughout the meeting place were statesmen, soldiers and friends of the dead officer. Temple lodge No. 32 of the Masonic fraternity was seated with the speakers.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who once employed Major Butt as a Washington correspondent and knew him as man and boy, spoke feelingly of his associations. He said he could not fail to mention the splendid courage of another Georgian, Jacques Futrelle, who lost his life on the Titanic, a fellow worker with Major Butt.

Edgar C. Snyder, a Washington newspaper man, spoke of Major Butt's activity in the newspaper field and quoted a tribute written by Henry Watterson, a former employer of the president's aide.

Philander C. Johnson read a poem dedicated to Major Butt. During the services the marine band, assisted by a choir, rendered music.

and fair play. Mr. Taft has stood for crooked misrepresentation of the will of the people.

The Lorimer Case.

"As for the Lorimer case, the facts are these: I fought Mr. Lorimer hard and in the open for 18 months. Originally Mr. Taft was secretly against Mr. Lorimer. As the Illinois primaries approached Mr. Taft's followers in the senate supported Mr. Lorimer. Mr. Lorimer was the leading Taft worker in Illinois. As long as there was hope that Mr. Lorimer might carry the state for Mr. Taft, Mr. Taft kept silent about Mr. Lorimer. But as soon as Illinois was lost, Mr. Taft rushed to Massachusetts where there were no Lorimer votes, and repudiated Mr. Lorimer.

"Now, it was wrong for Mr. Taft to keep silence and therefore to really help Lorimer as long as Lorimer could be of use to Mr. Taft, but it was not merely wrong, it was wrong in a particularly mean way, after having thus endeavored to use him while he might help Mr. Taft to turn around and for the first time openly condemn him when the chance for using him had vanished.

Canada Will Send Out Ship of Death

HALIFAX, B. S., May 5.—The search for bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster is to be continued, and the Canadian government steamer Mont Magny is to sail tomorrow, relieving the Minia and the Mackay-Bennett, the two cable ships which have been searching for required for their regular work.

As a last recourse an application was made to the dominion government for the Mont Magny. She is about four knots faster than either of the cable ships, and well adapted for the work.

The steamer will cruise along the edge of the gulf stream and it is understood bodies will be found in cold water as far north as perhaps 100 miles from the place where the Titanic went down.

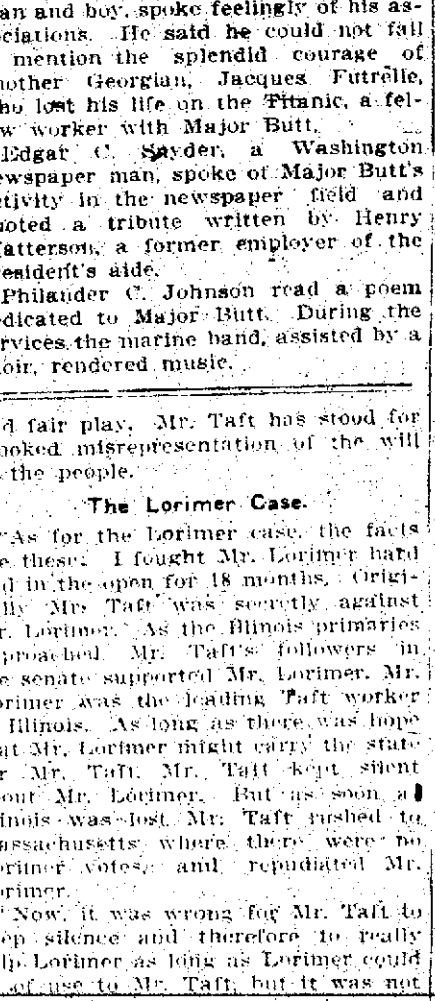

Played Violin After He Killed Wife. Mr. and Mrs. Albert De Brabins, De Brabins, well known New York violinist, in an insane fit of jealousy strangled his wife to death in their apartment on April 27. That night he took his place as usual in an orchestra that played in a fashionable Broadway restaurant, and played several excellent solos for the assembled merry-makers. Two days later, when several neighbors, suspecting that something was wrong in the apartment where the body of Mrs. De Brabins had remained following the crime, De Brabins hid himself in a closet, tied a rope around his neck and shot himself.

Steel Trust Case Will Begin Today

NEW YORK, May 5.—Hearings in the trial of the government's suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation under the Sherman antitrust law will begin here tomorrow morning before Henry P. Brown of Philadelphia, who was appointed special commissioner to conduct the hearings.

In point of magnitude, of the property involved and the prominence of the individual defendants, the suit is the most important of its kind ever presented by the government. Among the individual defendants are J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, James J. Hill, George W. Perkins, E. H. Gary, Charles M. Schwab, Henry C. Frick, William H. Moore, Norman B. Hays, P. A. B. Widener, Daniel G. Reed, Charles Steele, Edward C. Conner and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

It is probable that a year will elapse before the taking of testimony is completed. The government's complaint, which was filed in the United States circuit court at Trenton, N. J., last October, alleges that not only is the United States Steel corporation a combination in restraint of trade, but that many of its constituent companies are unlawful.

The answers to the government's suit set up a general denial. Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, will represent the government in the case, as special counsel, and in the array of counsel for the corporation are Joseph H. Choate, Richard W. Lindabury, John G. Johnson and Francis Lynde Stetson.

Denies Story That An American Was Murdered

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—The Mexican government, today, through Dr. Plutarco Calles, consul general of Mexico in the United States, officially denied the statement given to the press, Friday, in Philadelphia, by Mrs. M. L. Ryan, that an American was killed shortly before she departed from Puerto Mexico, and his heart cut out and sent to the port city just before the steamship Kentuckian sailed from there with American refugees.

Deliberate Attempt To Kill U. S. Soldier

EL PASO, Tex., May 5.—The shooting of Private John Baker of the Twenty-second infantry, yesterday, while on border patrol duty, was done deliberately from the Mexican side of the river, according to Col. E. Z. Steever, who completed a thorough investigation today.

Baker was reclining on his elbow near the river bank when he saw two Mexicans on the other side. The latter dodged into a clump of bushes and fired at him twice. One bullet shot off the soldier's fingers and scraped his feet.

Colonel Steever has reported details of the affair to Washington.

Chicago Papers Get Out Regular Editions

CHICAGO, May 5.—Although continuing under a handicap by the labor troubles with Webb pressmen and stereotypers, Chicago morning newspapers tonight printed their regular Monday editions and prepared for a resumption of general distribution throughout the city.

Further trouble is expected tomorrow morning when newsboys attempt to sell the papers from street newsstands. For several days it has been practically impossible to get Chicago newspapers at the street stands because of violence by sympathizers of the pressmen. Many bundles of papers have been seized, torn up or burned and newsboys intimidated.

The publishers reported that everything was going smoothly inside of the newspaper offices and that hourly additions were being made to the mechanical forces.

CONGRESS DEVOTING TIME TO POLITICS

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Politics is absorbing the attention of congress. Much of the discussion in both houses is aimed at the coming campaign and the congestion of business in the senate is largely attributable to that cause.

All the house tariff legislation, a formidable list of appropriation bills, the case of Senator Lorimer, legislation for the administrative machinery of the Panama canal and a variety of other bills are still to be acted upon by the senate. The leaders of both sides concede the possibility of a recess over the national convention in June and a resumption of the sessions later to wind up important legislation.

The fight on the workmen's compensation bill probably will end tomorrow afternoon with conditions prevailing to call up the case early this week. He and the other minority members are trying to avoid the possibility of the case going over until next session.

Republican senators expect a number of speeches on the house steel tariff revision bill, with the possibility of a vote on it by or before the early part of next week. Senators Cummins, Lodge, Smoot, Williams and Stone will be among the speakers.

The house is busied with plans for the money trust investigation, and by a threatened investigation of the charges against Robert W. Archibald, a judge of the United States commerce court. The charges have been withheld from the public. The house judiciary committee will take them up next Tuesday.

Situation Shows no Change at Torreon

LAREDO, Tex., May 5.—Torreón, Coahuila, mail advice of May 5 says: "The situation in this city does not seem to grow better, because of well-founded reports that insurgents have occupied the settlement of Tlahualilo, or Zargosa, 30 miles almost due north of this city. The insurgents, 100 in number, entered the place and demanded 200 pesos of the Tlahualilo company, an American corporation. They received this amount and gave revolutionary receipts for it. The leader then volunteered the information that 1,000 men under Jose Inez Zarama soon would follow and that San Pedro Colorado, a considerable town on the Central Branch railroad, connecting the city of Torreón with Eagle Pass and Monterey, would be next attacked.

"The Torreón volunteers, 400 strong, commanded by a colonel of auxiliary troops, Aguirre Benavides, former municipal president of Torreón, are said on substantial authority to have refused to advance against Orozco's men on the morning of May 2. The volunteers who were in camp at 27 miles northwest of Torreón, were ordered to get on a troop train bound for Coahuila state line, but they refused.

"General Joaquin Teller of the federal army immediately surrounded the multitudes with federal troops, disarmed them and put them in stock cars with a strong guard of federalists on the train. They were sent south as prisoners and went through Torreón. It is alleged their destination is the territory of Quintana Roo, south of Yucatan. They were immediately replaced by the Mariano Escobedo regiment of Coahuila, state volunteers, under Colonel Garfias.

Secrets As to Mission of U. S. Torpedo Boats

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 5.—The gunboat Yorktown and the collier Prometheus arrived from the south this afternoon. No one was permitted to go on aboard, and the officers gave no information as to occurrences on the voyage up the coast. The Yorktown's sailors were not allowed to come ashore. From sailors on the Prometheus it was learned that the torpedo boats Froble and Perry fell in with the gunboat and collier off the coast of Lower California, and that the Prometheus accompanied the torpedo boats to Magdalena bay and there coaled them. The Yorktown and Prometheus passed the transport Buford, bound south, last Friday.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., May 5.—Secretary of State Knox arrived here last night with a party which included Walter E. Clark, governor of Alaska. The secretary will remain here two days as the guest of his brother, who resides here. Then he will go to San Francisco where he is scheduled to make a political speech Tuesday.

Mr. Knox said he had given no attention to the Mexican situation, but he probably would not see any of the delegation of American refugees who have expressed an intention to lay before him their grievances against the Mexican authorities, or rebels.

Deny Emphatically Existence of Any Anti-American Feeling in Mexico

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Simultaneously with the arrival of Senator Manuel Calles, the new ambassador of Mexico to this country, Dr. Policarpo Rueda, representing Emilio Vasquez Gomez, provisional president of Mexico, appeared in Washington to ask this government to recognize the legitimacy of the provisional government. Both issued statements tonight.

"The uprising has been confined to the state of Chihuahua," said Ambassador Calles' statement in part, "in spite of what has been said to the contrary, and is daily being repented in the United States. Disturbances exist, it is true, in other portions of the republic of Mexico, but these are not political in character, but are rather brigandage on a greater or less scale. My government, while successfully combating these movements, is earnestly striving to find a remedy for the problem, and has, in this connection, already accomplished some most important work.

Would Protest All Interests.

"I must most emphatically deny that there exists any such thing in Mexico as an anti-American feeling. There are perhaps some Americans who may have received injury, either to person or property at the hands of the bandits, but this happens everywhere. The government is making, and will continue to make, every possible effort toward protecting all interests, both domestic and foreign."

In his statement which is addressed to the American people, Dr. Rueda declares:

"The provisional government is in a fully organized political state, capable of discharging the duties of a government by enforcing the law and protecting life and property and meeting its foreign obligations. It holds two states and many cities and towns; it is supported by the people and is a home of generous and popular organization, carrying on trade, manufactures and war."

Dr. Rueda says the provisional government is in every respect a defacto government, worthy of recognition as such, and entitled to all the rights of a belligerent.

"The war, which has resulted in the establishment of the provisional government under President Emilio Vasquez Gomez is being fought for the liberation of the Mexican people from the serfdom of penance and slavery for debt," he said.

The Face of a Smile

Laughter Is One of the Great Success Bringers.

Virginia Banks in the Kansas City Star.

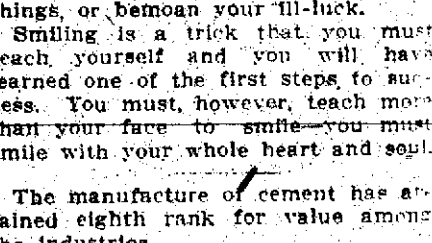

A smile is an infectious thing—never depressing or pulling down, but rather has the effect of warming up and pulling toward you those with whom you come in contact.

Watch the attitude of even the most settled old crank toward a baby when it laughs at him. You can almost see his heart warm up to the sunny little smile. I imagine we were equipped with the smile to help us through our helpless age—to get us through the time when we must have the assistance of others if we would even live.

When you smile, your work things go easily because your head and brain give instant response. Laughter is one of the great success-bringers of the world, and the sale of it has made many a fortune. They sell us a smile every time we go to the theater, a concert, and even a moving picture show. But you can think of no place where you pay money to sit and mourn, or reflect on miserable things, or bemoan your ill-luck.

Smiling is a trick that you must teach yourself and you will have learned one of the first steps to success. You must, however, teach more than your face to smile—you must smile with your whole heart and soul.

The manufacture of cement has attained eighth rank for value among the industries.

Frederick Townsend Martin, long the social arbiter of New York's "400," but who has lately confined his efforts to movements for the improvement of existing conditions under which United States diplomats are obliged to fulfill their duties in foreign stations, has announced that he will write a book on society, which, while it may shock, he expects will do a great deal of good. In his opinion the only thing wrong with society is that it recognizes no condition other than its own. So-called smart society, he says, is self-satisfied, self-sufficient. That is why society is yawning its head off, bored to death.

Mr. Martin intends to show society people in his book that there is something larger in life than the dead dull of a selfish, circumscripted environment in which they have wasted so many of their years.

PIKES PEAK REGION DAY

IT IS doubtful whether a more popular movement of its kind was ever launched in Colorado Springs than Pikes Peak Region Day, held last summer just before the beginning of the tourist season. Its object was to give the people of Colorado Springs, and especially the clerks and other employees of its business establishments, an opportunity to see the various scenic attractions hereabouts by making extremely low charges. On Pikes Peak Region Day nearly every business house in the city was closed and everybody took a holiday. Tickets for every conceivable combination of trips and excursions were sold. We have forgotten the number, but it ran high into the thousands and was limited only by the ability of the managers of the various attractions to take care of the crowds. In this way a very large number of local people were enabled to "take in" the Cog Road trip, the Short Line trip, the Crystal Park trip, the Scenic Incline, the Cave of the Winds, the Seven Falls, the Cliff Dwellings, and the various other attractions, who previously had been denied the privilege because they could not afford it.

The value of this plan lies chiefly in the fact that it serves to unify our own people in the important business of boosting the scenic attractions of the Pikes Peak region. Everybody who has visited these attractions knows that every one of them is well worth seeing and well worth the admission fee charged. Their chief patronage is, of course, derived from our summer visitors who, being on vacation bent, expect and can afford to spend their money in this way. But it happens that there are thousands of our own people who, not being in the summer tourist class, and being busy engaged in the more pressing business of earning a living, have been unable to afford the luxury of scenic resorts trips at regular prices.

But it is really a matter of importance to the community that all of our people should see and be thoroughly familiar with the local attractions, for all of them have numerous opportunities to advise our summer visitors on this subject. Every day in the summer time the clerks in the stores are asked countless questions as to where to go and what to see, and it produces an unpleasant impression on the questioning visitor if the reply is noncommittal or indefinite. It is a salesgirl admits that she was born in Colorado Springs and has lived here all her life, but has never been to the summit of Pikes Peak, for example, the visitor is apt to wonder whether it is worth while for him to make that trip. But if the clerk replies, "Yes, it is one of the best scenic trips in the West. I know, because I was there myself only a few weeks ago, it is an incentive to the questioner to buy a ticket and find whether the boast is justified.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is unceasingly active in the effort to promote the best interests of the community along all legitimate lines, is preparing to hold another Pikes Peak Region Day early in the coming summer. The movement should, and unquestionably will, have the enthusiastic support of every business man and interest to the end that it may be an even greater success than the one last year.

ALLIANCES WITH BOSSES

PRESIDENT TAFT'S repeated denunciation of Colonel Roosevelt for "consorting with bosses" ill-becomes him for more reasons than one. And the principal one was succinctly expressed by Roosevelt when he declared last week that "When I work with the bosses it is on my terms and in the interest of the people, but when Mr. Taft works with them he works on their terms and against the interest of the people." Refusal of recent political history proves this contention.

When Roosevelt was Governor of New York he sometimes fought the bosses and sometimes worked with them, but the net result was the enactment of the laws the of reputable men. When he was President he used the same method. Cannon, Aldrich, Penrose, Crane, and other powerful bosses were in the heyday of their prosperity and could not be disregarded. Roosevelt worked with them more often than against them, but whenever he worked with them it was to put through the splendid program of legislation which stands today as one of the most valuable achievements in the history of any administration. Time and again he used powerful gangsters with such good effect that the masses of the American people are grateful to him for it today.

But it takes a tremendously powerful personality to do this, and Mr. Taft, unfortunately, is anything but a powerful personality. Like Roosevelt he has worked both against the bosses and with them. But when he was against them his opposition was so weak as to be ineffective. And when he worked with them the same quality of weakness made him their ally, working for their ends, instead of their being his allies, working in the public interest. They simply took him into camp and used him as a powerful instrument to attain their ends.

These assertions are proven in the history of numerous events that have transpired in the Taft administration, but nowhere more convincingly than in the history of tariff legislation and of the Interior Department. Even before he was domiciled in the White House Mr. Taft began working with the bosses to revise the tariff. He consulted Cannon and Aldrich and Payne and Hale and Crane and a few others of their school to obtain their views, and presto! the immediate effect was a right-about-face, and the American people awoke one morning to the spectacle of their "progressive" President hand-in-glove with the staunchest crowd of tariff stand-patters in the country. The rest is history.

Mr. Taft worked with the bosses again, and worked their way, in that memorable train of events which included the dismissal of Pinchot and the long continued retention of Ballinger in the Cabinet. Boss Guggenheim needed Ballinger in that position to see that the Cunningham claims in Alaska were properly looked after. And Guggenheim, supported by several other gentlemen of like mind, wanted Pinchot removed for similar reasons. And in the end these gentlemen got what they wanted, for again Mr. Taft was found working with the bosses.

The ancient aphorism about people who live in glass houses applies to Mr. Taft with peculiar force.

FROM OTHER PENS.

THE VITAL ISSUE.
From the Kansas City Star.
The question is not "Did Roosevelt give Taft a square deal?" or "Did Taft give Roosevelt a square deal?" It is
Has Taft given the country a square deal?
As Mr. Roosevelt urges, no issue of personalities ought to be permitted to obscure the vital question before the nation.

MULTITUDE OF SEA COUNSELORS.
From the Boston Transcript.
In a multitude of counselors there is safety, according to the biblical saying, and in the long report probably the truth of this declaration is justified. However, before the multitude whose counsel make for safety a chance to be heard, another multitude tends its advice, and will not be silenced by ignorance of the subject on which it forms its opinions. It is always crowded of its own wisdom. At the present moment the class of counselors who advise without knowledge is getting ready hearing from the press and public. Nautical matters are a closed book to the average landman, and yet to judge from what we read in the newspapers, advisers who never smelled salt are rushing in where experienced seamen if they do not fear to tread are cautious about making their entry. Some of the counsel given would be astonishing in the inability to appreciate maritime life it presents if the capacity for astonishment had not been exhausted.

REGULATING THE WIRELESS.
From the Baltimore Sun.
There were two wireless operators on the Titanic. Both remained at their post until the deck was awash and the captain told them to save themselves. Phillips died of exposure in the icy sea. Bride had both his feet frostbitten and barely saved his life. Cottam was the only operator on the Carpathia. He worked from dawn until dusk, and was exhausted. The German ship Frankfurt received the "Q" distress signal according to the testimony, but did not go to the relief of the Titanic. The California must have been near by, for she sent iceberg warnings Sunday at 5, only a few hours before the disaster. The only vessel that reached the spot in time to pick up the survivors was the Carpathia. Cottam was preparing to go to bed, but concluded to keep the office open ten minutes more. If Cottam had gone to bed those in the boat might have been left fighting about on the open sea for days until some steamer found them. This and other incidents connected with the loss of the Titanic evidence the need of strict regulation. The wireless is no longer an experiment, but an invaluable relief agency to be utilized to the fullest extent. Representative Alexander has introduced a bill to insure uninterrupted wireless service day and night all the year between vessels at sea and the American coast, to make distress calls effective, to prevent "interference" by private stations, to prevent monopoly and join with other nations in strict regulation of this method of communication.

THE TITANIC RELIEF FUNDS.
From the Washington Star.
There is danger of excessive liberality on the part of the public in the matter of the Titanic sufferers, for whose benefit funds are being raised both in this country and in England. Naturally the needs of the poor who rescued from the ship, although possessing large means of their own were urgent upon their landing, and it is gratifying to know that these have been relieved as far as possible and that at the present time there is no actual suffering anywhere for money or clothing. If all the losses caused by the wreck of the Titanic are made good probably every penny that is being raised will be needed. To this end it will be necessary for those in charge of the funds to dole them out with discretion, for petty frauds being imposed on the Titanic funds, and doubtless there have been numerous cases of fakers working on the sympathies of the generous by pretending to have lost all their possessions in the wreck and who were no nearer the scene of the disaster than Coney Island.

MUNICIPAL WINDOW DRESSING.
From the Philadelphia Record.
Last Monday morning 1,825 flies were lost needlessly, and the entire world shudders with horror. The sanitarians tell us that in this one city of Philadelphia 5,000 needless deaths occur every year, and it is but little marked Philadelphia is not worse than other cities, all are given to municipal window dressing. The flies are collected in bottle-yards and parks and public buildings, they are infatuated with the phrase, the "City Beautiful," and not one of them is doing its duty in sanitation. Ours is not a city of tenement houses, but in some respects the housing problem here is all the more serious for while public opinion is willing to have tenement houses inspected, it is reluctant to allow what pass for private houses to be visited by officials, and it is the result in bad condition.

If you patiently do your work the best you can, and worry and fret as little as possible, a great many good things will come your way when you least expect it.

Diogenes

By WALT MASON.

That old philosopher who spent his best years in a tub, and growled in peevish discontent—he was a tiresome dabbler. In youth he stained the landscape red and hot places high in age, with sore and aching head, he raised a doleful cry. The world, he said, was out of plumb, and men were mostly taken because his mouth was feeling him and he was full of aches. He lay upon his hunched couch, and lapsed and slumped, and wept up such a fearful groan that it has never died. It seems strange that his name like Banquo's ghost won't down while men who played a wiser game have faded of all renown. While this old duffer kicked and whined a million careless joys, who never murmured or repined went on their useful ways and they have moldered into dust, unheeded and unsung, while fame rewarded him who cursed until he broke a lung. We should rejoice that times have changed the chronic groan today is snuffed as one who is deranged, whose head is full of whys. (Copyright, 1912, by George Matthew Adams.)

Mother's Day

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Most all of the other beautiful things in life come by twos and threes, by dozens and hundreds. Plenty of stars, roses, sunsets, rainbows, brothers and sisters, aunts and cousins—but only one mother in all the wide world."—Kate Douglas Wiggin.
Next Sunday there will take place the fourth celebration of a new international holiday. In all the calendar, there are but two other international holidays, and yet this most remarkable holiday was created with a single postage stamp, according to the story of its founder, Miss Anna Jarvis.

Five years ago, Miss Jarvis used this epoch-making postage stamp to carry a notice to a Church paper. This notice asked for the observance of the second Sunday in May as "Mother's Day," and requested that every son and daughter who wished to honor motherhood should wear a white carnation on that day.

The next year that same notice was inserted in a Philadelphia paper and copied by other newspapers all over the country. The result was that the new holiday became at once so popular that last year Mother's day was observed, not only in every nook and corner of our own country, but also in Europe, in parts of China, Japan, Africa and South America. Florists completely sold out their stock of white flowers; churches and special services; and mayors and governors issued proclamations urging that the day be observed.

The wonderful growth of this holiday is absolutely unique. There has been no organization and no literature, except one small pamphlet, to push it. It all grew from that one little notice. Even Miss Jarvis, whose love for her own mother inspired her to send that first notice, has never lectured or actively propagated her idea. The response has been entirely spontaneous.

The only explanation of all this lies in the fact that the world is coming to realize the beauty of motherhood and is eagerly glad of this opportunity to give the mothers of men, honor due.

The observance of the day is perfectly simple. The wearing of the white carnation, or any white flower, is the chief ceremony. The churches hold special services with appropriate sermons, and make a great effort to get out all the older people. If you are at home with your mother you are supposed to observe the day as hers in every way you can think of. If you are away from her, you are supposed to write her a letter. If you are a son, you are supposed to write her a special letter. Kindness to "somebody's mother" in lieu of your own, is also recommended.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen are nationally honored. Mothers of the fallen are given special attention. Mothers of the living are given special attention. Mothers of the living are given special attention. Mothers of the living are given special attention.

FIRST AID TO INJURED HEARTS

By Laura Jean Libbey

BACHELOR ADOPTING BABIES

(Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.)
It is amusing to note the opinion which one-half of the world has concerning bachelors and babies. Many people have the notion that the men who have steered clear of matrimony have a horror of children, who they imagine are getting into difficulty every hour of the day, and are crying all night long, only falling asleep in the early dawn.

As a matter of fact, there are few bachelors who actually dislike children. At this time, when there is much discussion pertaining to bachelors adopting babies, one should look beyond the sentimental surface of the idea and reason out a few plain facts. It has been said that every bachelor whose salary is $20 a week should adopt a baby. What about the parents who brought that child into the world? Should their responsibilities be shuffled onto the shoulders of some man who is endeavoring to hew out his own future in an entirely different path?

The bachelor who has been singled out to adopt a particular baby may have his brothers and sisters. That bachelor says, and with a degree of truth in his remark "Why do not the married men who have homes take in one more?" They have wives to look after them. Then again, he argues wisely and with wisdom, too, "It is a serious matter to attempt to rear other people's children."

Another bachelor remarks facetiously on the same subject, and with a strain of earnestness behind his words, "If the community at large insisted that I should adopt some child, and I could not obtain an infant from any of the families known to me, but must pick one at random from some orphanage, I should want a chart of that child's supposed future. In addition I should want to hunt up his genealogical tree, to assure myself that his great-grandfather was a preacher instead of a poacher. If I should feel safe about concerning myself regarding his bringing up. For what's bred in the bone must come out in the flesh."

What influence has an outsider when it comes right down to it, to influence a wild young fellow from cutting up capers? The boy's own father has no compunction in taking him out into the woods and administering corporal punishment. I might send him through college, educate him at the expense of leaving myself a candidate for the poor house in my old age. He might throw learning to the winds and choose to follow the life of a sailor, forgetting me entirely in my helpless poverty. If he prospered, the question is, would he seek me out, and in turn support me from his $20 a week? I am inclined to doubt it. If I were coerced into providing a certain stipend for one of the mites of humanity instead of adopting a little stranger, would consider it more satisfactory to contribute my share weekly and let my worry and responsibility end there?

ANSWERS

HE DIDN'T WRITE.

"Dear Miss Libbey: There is a certain gentleman of whom I think very much, but he is residing in a different city. As he is studying for a doctor, he needed to take his examinations, and therefore he asked me not to correspond for a while and also mentions this as a sacrifice for him. Now, his examinations have passed, and for three whole months he has not written one line. Would you advise me to drop him a postal and inquire the reason for his sudden stop in our correspondence? Do you think he does not want to correspond with me? Should I write to him?"

"PERPLEXED MAIDEN."
Do not write to him. The fellow doesn't want to be bothered with you. That's all there is to it.

WASN'T HE IMPERTINENT?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I ride downtown every morning with a certain gentleman. Before meeting him I noticed him on the car, and was aware of the fact that he knew I was there. He never tried to flirt, and I wouldn't think of doing such a thing. We became acquainted through a ridiculous incident, and ever since have been good friends on the car."

"One morning he was sitting with his elbow on the window sill, I was in the same position. Our hands touched, and he grasped mine and held it for some time. Nothing was said. He always has been a perfect gentleman in every way. I have been on the car with him every morning since, but he has not repeated the incident. We are good friends—in fact, a little more than friends. He is reticent and bashful."

The fellow was exceedingly impertinent. I would advise you not to have anything further to do with him. For all you know he may be a married man, a presumptuous, ungentlemanly fellow. That's the trouble with these pickup acquaintances.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS
VI CUBA'S APPROACHING ELECTIONS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

HAVANA, Cuba, April 20.—If it were rash to predict the outcome of the elections of the United States in November, it would be a hundred times more daring to risk a prophecy concerning the Cuban elections that are to be held about the same time. While it is true that in Cuba there are only two big political parties, the intermingled warfare in one is so bitter, and there are so many nonparty side issues affecting both, that there is no basis upon which to build an orderly or logical forecast.

It is not so difficult to feel out the sense of the public with respect to that candidate generally held to be best fitted to succeed to the presidency in the present situation of Cuban affairs. The nominee of the Conservative party is Gen. Mario Menocal. He is the manager of the Chaparral sugar estate, the largest sugar plantation in the world. The fact this estate is owned by American interests, and that it has a capacity of a half million bags of sugar a year may have something to do with the fact that Americans so readily discover that Menocal is so nearly an ideal man for the presidency. General Menocal is a veteran of the war of independence, and stands so well among his countrymen that Americans in Cuba are fond of saying that even the Liberals admit that he is an honest man. The foreign element in Cuba agrees that he is the best example of good citizenship that the Cuban people have to offer. He certainly would not be opposed by the American sugar trust, which has a large interest in the course of Cuban politics.

Leads Weaker of Two Parties.
Yet General Menocal has the misfortune of being the leader of the weaker of the two parties in Cuba. The Conservative party, under normal conditions, stands but little chance of polling a majority of the vote of the country for president. If, by any chance, General Menocal should be elected, it will not be because his party is stronger, but simply through votes which may come to him from outside sources.

General Menocal is, perhaps, the highest salaried man in Cuba. It is said that his income from his management of the sugar estates under his control amounts to $100,000 a year. His employers are said to have opposed his accepting the nomination, and tried to exact a promise from him that he would not accept the leadership of his party. It is also said that his wife has aspirations to be the first lady of the land in Cuba, and in reality was the power which led him to agree to captain the Conservative hosts. If it shall develop that he can command the majority of the votes of the Association of War of Independence veterans he may be able to win out. There is also a possibility that the negro voters who hold the balance of power, but who normally vote with the Liberals, may become so disgusted with the treatment they have received from the Liberals that they will either nominate candidates of their own, or vote with the Conservatives, as a rebuke to their former political associates.

Talk of Third Party.
How the Liberal party situation will come out is the principal enigma of Cuban politics at the present writing. So much bitterness has developed within the party, as will be explained in a succeeding article, that there seems to be a rather small prospect of healing the breach. One wing of the party nominated the present vice president as the head of the Liberal ticket for the campaign now on. Dr. Zayas has been promised the support of President Gomez, yet Gomez was so bitter after the nomination of Zayas that he refused even to recognize the salute of Dr. Zayas as he left the convention hall. Likewise, Governor Asbert of the province of Havana, who was the principal candidate in opposition, has refused to recognize the nomination of Zayas, and has been inclined to head a third party in the field. Efforts are now being put forth to bring about harmony between the contending factions. There are some who believe that Asbert will reconsider and line up behind the candidacy of Zayas. There are others who say he will carry his fight to the polls just, even if no third party is put

Veterans and Independents.
It is almost difficult to figure out what course will be pursued by the veterans and by the Independents, or third party, as it is to be determined by the probable courses of President Gomez and Governor Asbert. The veterans are insistent in their demands that the two parties shall declare themselves on the questions which they seek to bring to the front. As will be explained in a subsequent article, they want all government positions filled by veterans. They also insist that the lands of Cuba shall be kept in the hands of native, or naturalized, Cubans, and also that the government shall give them aid in farming those lands. The Conservative party is opposed to many of the demands of the veterans, and the Liberals have never given them any consideration, except to make promises not intended to be lived up to.

The negroes claim that they are not being fairly treated, that they are being denied their constitutional rights and that they are not given

LEAGUE HOLD MEMORIAL FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A beautiful and impressive memorial service was held by Pikes Peak Lodge, No. 143, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in the First Christian church last night.

The Rev. S. E. Brewster, pastor of the church, delivered the sermon, on "The Life Beyond." He took as his text, John 11:25-27.

Dr. Brewster described the lives of men at the beginning of his sermon and then took up the questions of the after life.

"What is man today," he said, "is he a mere brute and no more? Does he die or is he immortal?"

He then took up these questions, saying that in all ages and everywhere there has been hope. The Egyptians showed this by their wondrous methods of embalming their dead, thinking that some time the souls would return. The same was true with the ancient Greeks whose drawings of the Elysian fields demonstrated that they believed in the life hereafter. Here in America the Indian, who lived entirely apart from the remainder of the world, and who did not know of the existence of another continent, believed in immortality, for when they buried their dead, they interred all of their worldly riches with them, preparing them for the after life.

In closing, Mr. Brewster took up the four principles of the order—liberty, truth, justice and equality. He spoke on what each means, and how living up to them will make the life to come what it ought to be.

REV. ROBERT TALKS ON "EVOLUTION OF RELIGION"

The Rev. Thomas Salter, minister of the First Baptist church, which he is delivering on "The Evolution of Religion," or "The Belief of the Ages Concerning God, Life and Death." His subject yesterday morning was "Confucius—the Sage of the East." Mr. Robert said in part:

"A necessary thought in the study of comparative religion is that man is God's child, and it would be strange if his maker had never said anything to him. God spoke the same word to Confucius and Buddha that he spoke to Jesus, but in Confucius it appeared in a religion of prose, in Buddha, in the doctrine of negation, and in Jesus, in the constructive doctrine of the supreme personality. God speaks all dialects, and his speech, when it phrases itself, is uttered in the terms of its recipient."

"The Chinese have always been a world in themselves, remote from all other races of men. Their mental habits prevent them from a free interchange of ideas with foreigners, yet when we come to their religion, we seem to be touching common ground. Max Muller says: 'In every religion there is the same struggle to conceive the inconceivable, the same love of God.' The objects of worship in the Chinese religion arrange themselves in three classes: the Chinaman of old worshipped, and his descendant of today worships still; heaven, spirits of various kinds, the spirits of dead ancestors. Heaven is the principal Chinese deity. The peculiarity of their religion lies in the fact that it makes no claim to divine revelation; has no mythology, no miracles. Confucius made no change in the religion of his country, never dreamed of himself as of divine origin and never imagined himself to be even a reformer of religion."

The later years of his life were devoted to editing the sacred books of his religion, and many of his sayings have become classics. We are apt to claim the golden rule as a monopoly of our Christian faith. Confucius summed up the golden rule in one word, "Reciprocity," and when asked to enlarge the definition, he said "What you do not want done to yourself, do not do to others." His precepts are eminently practical. He says "Return injury with justice, and good with good." Another of his was "Faithfulness and sincerity are the highest things." The cardinal principles of his life were duty, purity, family affection and brotherly love, reverence for God, respect for parents and love as between man and man.

"Confucianism is not a false religion. It is simply a religion manifesting itself at one of the lower stages of evolution. Whether it will ever be succeeded by Christianity I cannot say, but I am thoroughly convinced that it will never be by what is known as 'orthodox Christianity.' The Chinese mind is too practical and unemotional to be controlled by a faith that rests for its proof on the miraculous."

ENORMOUS VALUE SPRINGS HOLDINGS IN COPPER CO.

Charles M. MacNeill and Spencer Penrose, both of this city, and the banking house of Hayden, Stone & Co., own stock in the Utah Copper company, having a present market value of $11,021,246, according to the stock voted at the company's meeting in New Jersey last week.

These figures show the immense wealth which the Colorado Springs men have made out of their copper deals in recent years. They have received dividends on their stock regularly for several years.

Spencer Penrose is the largest individual holder residing in Colorado. He holds 50,000 shares, which at the present quotation of $22 a share represents a value of $1,100,000. Mr. Penrose's interest is placed at $1,986,524. MacNeill was shown to own 34,194 shares, with a market value of $2,120,028. Hayden Stone & Co.'s interest is worth $3,800,72. The Guinguin Exploration company owns 171,689 shares, worth $10,445,38.

Dread of an Operation

N. Manchester, Ind.—Mrs. Eva B. Shore, of this place, says, "I suffered female misery of every description. Two doctors attended me, and advised an operation. I lost weight until I weighed only ninety pounds. I dreaded an operation, and, instead, began to take Cardui. In a short time, I gained 25 pounds, and feel as well as I ever did. Cardui, I am sure, saved my life." Cardui is today used in thousands of homes, where it relieves pain and brings back strength and ambition. It is a woman's medicine, for women's ailments, and you are urged to try it for your troubles. Ask your druggist. He will tell you about Cardui.

PRISONER MAY BE SPRINGS MURDERER

Is Charles Marzyck, who the authorities say is the man recently arrested at Kamloops, B. C., guilty of the Wayne-Burnham murder in this city as well as that of the Shawman in Illinois, Kan., last October?

The crime was almost identical in every detail, and the evidence is strong that both were committed by the same hand.

The entire Shawman family, father, mother and three children—were found murdered exactly as were the Wayne and Burnham families, less than a month after the crime here. Marzyck is said to have been acquainted with the Wayne-Burnham family, and it was sought in Denver by the authorities, but they were unable to locate him.

Marzyck is an old criminal. It is said many warrants for his arrest for various charges were out at the time of his disappearance in 1908. He was not located until December 4, 1907, when he was arrested by the Denver police, but successfully resisted extradition to St. Joseph, Mo., where he was wanted for forgery.

Steps have been taken by the Kansas authorities to extradite the supposed Marzyck, and should the man help prove to be the one the police want, it may be that his trial for the Shawman murder will unveil the mystery of the crime here.

DR. M'CONNELL ADDRESSES THE MEN AND OLDER BOYS

Dr. Lincoln McConnell, pastor of the First Baptist church of Atlanta, Ga., addressed a meeting for men and older boys at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. McConnell took as his text the thrice-repeated query of Jesus to Peter, "Simon, son of John, lovest thou me?"—John xxi:15-17.

The speaker's principal theme was the threshold capacity for loving possessed by the man. To love with the emotions, the intellect and the soul. "We must feel our love, and must think of it," he declared, "but the deepest, most all-powerful love, is love with the soul, the love of unselfish service. A true servant is not merely a professor of good will but a doer of good deeds, one who is willing and glad to help the cause and to help his fellow men."

He closed with a strong appeal for men everywhere to be willing workers to show their love for Christ by voluntary and unselfish service.

J. C. Schneider had charge of the song service at the opening of the meeting. Ralph Young sang a solo.

Dr. McConnell who is to speak every evening this week, tomorrow evening will address a meeting for men only on the subject "A Fallen King." At the opera house Sunday afternoon a men's mass meeting will be held, at which he will be the principal speaker.

DRESS REHEARSAL KIRMESS AT BURNS

The first dress rehearsal to be held in the new Burns theater will take place this afternoon, when the scores of dancers who will have part in the Kirmess program next Friday night will be present for their first drill in costume with all the stage settings. The young ladies and children have then quite practically perfect, as far as technique of the dances is concerned, but it will help them materially to have one or two performances on the big stage behind the glamour of the costumes and with the accompaniment of the Russian Symphony orchestra, in which they will perform. Those who have seen the young ladies and children in their dances have been delighted and predict the greatest triumph for local and Denver talent ever seen in this city.

The Kirmess will be the second performance given in the magnificent new theater and the price of admission is so low that the privilege of seeing one of the most artistic theaters in the United States alone is worth the cost of the tickets. For the performance to be given Wednesday night when hundreds are clamoring for tickets who will of necessity be disappointed, is not altogether due to the excellence of the Russian Symphony orchestra, but largely to a desire to see the beautiful interior of the new playhouse. This sentiment combined with the beauty of its dances insures a great and rapid sale for the tickets. The sale will open this forenoon at the theater box office and all who desire to make sure of a seat will, in popular parlance, "have to hurry," or they will be confronted by the "S. R. O." sign. The boxes have already been taken, and hundreds of applications are in for the parquet and dress circle seats, but the management has decided on the plan of giving seats on the principle, "First come, first served," so that those anxious to see this splendid performance should not lose any time in booking their seats.

DESECRATION OF FLAG PROHIBITED IN COLORADO

Special to The Gazette

DENVER, May 5.—The recent anarchist desecration of the American flag, which have stirred the entire country, would have been attended by severe penalties had it occurred in Colorado, according to William K. McAllister of Denver, prominent in patriotic societies.

Mr. McAllister calls attention to the fact that the United States district attorney finds that he will be unable to prosecute the anarchists who tore down the American flag and trampled on it at the recent May day celebration in New York.

For nearly seven years Colorado has had a law which provides heavy penalties for desecration, mutilation or improper use of the Stars and Stripes. The act would provide not only for the punishment of perpetrators of recent outrages on the flag, but also would facilitate prosecution of anyone using the flag as a part of an advertising emblem.

MRS. C. M. HARPER DIES

Mrs. Caroline M. Harper of this city who has been living for some time near Hugo, Colo., died suddenly of heart trouble about 10 o'clock Saturday night at Hugo. Her children in this city did not know that she had been ill. She is survived by three sons, Ernest C. Harper, of 323 West St. Vrain street, Hugo, Harlow and John R. Harper, both of Hugo, one daughter, Mrs. A. M. Boring, of this city, and four grandchildren. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church and was well known here. No arrangements for the funeral have been made except that it will be held in Colorado Springs.

GIVE FREE CONCERT

The Honey Boys gave a free concert at the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon so that those who were unable to attend the concert last Friday might have an opportunity to hear this talented and well-drilled organization. An excellent program was given.

Hints on Cleaning the Sink

Every sink should be provided with a three-cornered sieve made by covering a metal frame with very fine netting. When water is thrown into the sink it should be turned into this sieve, preventing the solid matter from getting into the pipes and causing trouble. Each time the dishes are washed the sink should be carefully cleaned. The quickest way is to dissolve a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in hot water, rinse every portion of the sink with the Gold Dust solution, pouring some of the hot dust down the pipe to loosen the grease that may have gathered in the trap.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN MANITOU SCHOOL ELECTION

The High school auditorium controversy is scheduled to take a prominent part in the Manitou school election today. W. S. Crosby, who has been a strong opponent of the auditorium project since it was launched the first of January, is a candidate for school board. Much time has been made in the last few days on both sides of the question. Miss Spence's election seems probable.

The polls will be open from 9 o'clock this morning until noon. The polls for "A" and "B" will be at the Manitou Journal office and those for the upper one in Smiley & Penfield's real estate office.

It is as yet too early to forecast accurately what form their fight at the polls will take. As the laws of Cuba prohibit the formation of a colored party, and as President Gomez has been inclined to enforce this law, it is doubtful if the negroes of Cuba will be able to put a separate ticket into the field.

HAPPENINGS IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

COMMITTEE WILL MEET; LEAGUE GETS FRANCHISE

The "fears" of certain parties in this city that the Rocky Mountain league might not receive protection from the National commission, were dispelled by the announcement contained in the official bulletin issued Saturday that the commission had granted the Rocky Mountain league a class D franchise with protection in six towns. This assures those who are really interested in seeing that Colorado Springs gets first-class ball this and succeeding seasons that they will be fully protected from outlaw and "semiprofessional" interference.

This announcement is fortunate at this time, for at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce baseball committee of 100 at the Antlers this evening, final action on the project will be taken. The commission's statement removes all doubt as to the standing of the league in organized ball, and leaves the committee in position to go ahead with the work of raising the money required and equipping the park.

A third of the money necessary has already been pledged, and now that the final court of organized baseball has given its sanction to the league, the remainder doubtless will soon be subscribed.

The territory embraced in the protection granted the league includes Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Canon City, La Junta, Trinidad, and Raton, N. M.

Prospects are bright for a great baseball year here and in the other towns of the league. The Millionaires are burning the trail on their practice trip through the south, and will be in fine shape by the time the season opens.

Zooz Trim F. C. A's in Loose Game

Those Zooz took the F. C. A. team of Denver into camp yesterday in a warm, contested game, to the tune of 13 to 9. Runs, hits and errors were the features of the game, which kept the fans in good humor throughout. The Denver team gave the Millionaires a few thrills when they started to climb up in the later sessions, but they were shut off before they did enough damage to hurt.

WASHINGTON TEAM LOSES
The St. Mary's team defeated the Washington team yesterday morning by a score of 15 to 10. A brilliant one-handed catch by Rightfielder Matt Bour of the St. Mary's was a feature. Batteries were Kolcher and Harnett for St. Mary's and Merrill and Beaman for Washington.

FIVE WORLD'S RECORDS MADE

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Five new world's speedway records were established at the hippodrome one-mile planing by drivers who participated in yesterday's Santa Monica road race. Caleb Bragg, in the 30-horsepower Fiat, which he drove into second place in yesterday's classic, broke the world's five-mile record for all classes, held by Ralph De Palma, lowering the latter's mark by about four seconds. His time was three minutes 11.4 seconds.

Louis Disbrow in the Simplex Zip broke Oldfield's record for the same distance for 500-cubic inch cars and set a new 10-mile record for cars of the 500-cubic inch class, his time being 7 minutes 46.2 seconds. The fifth record broken was that in the 300-cubic inch class, held by Harrington for 25 miles. Nikrent covered that distance in 18 minutes 53.4 seconds, almost a minute faster than the old record.

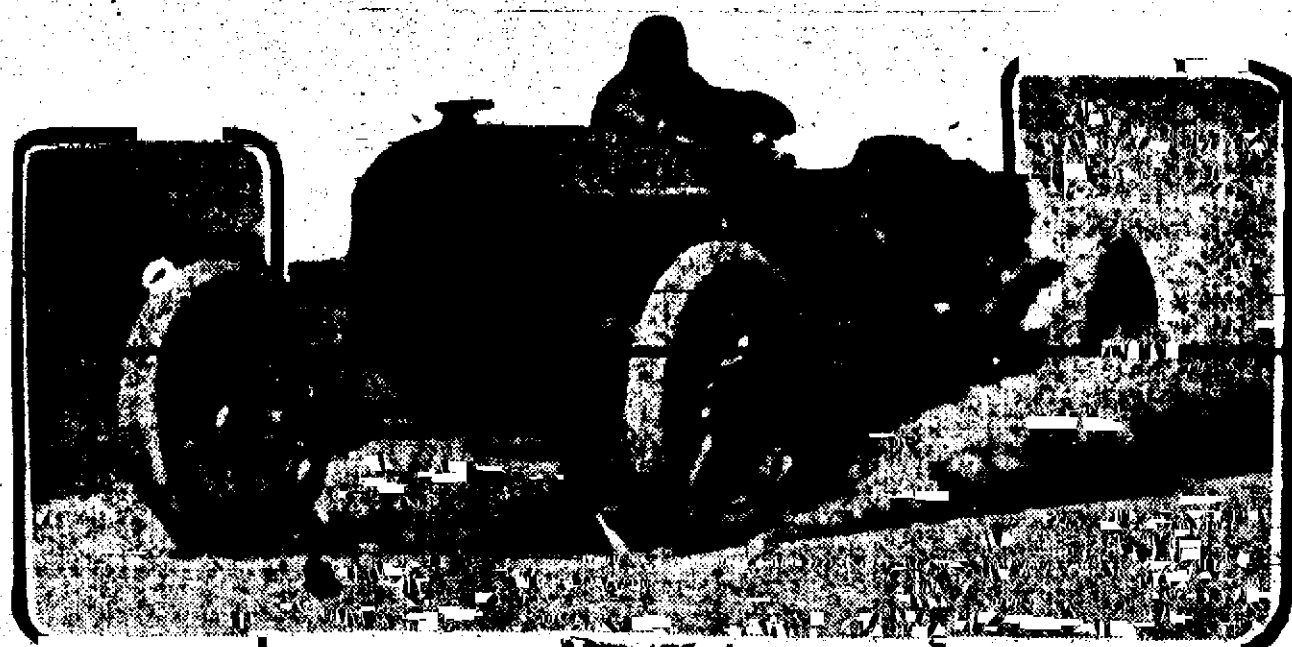

This record was made in an exciting race between Nikrent and Ralph De Palma, who was driving the Mercer car, which he won the medium car race at Santa Monica yesterday, and in which Nikrent was second. De Palma won from Nikrent in two five-mile events.

The fastest mile of the day was driven by Disbrow in the Jay Dee car in 25 seconds flat. F. J. Wagner of Colorado Springs was the fastest of the day as starter and the races were admirably timed.

MILLIONAIRES MAKE 4 HOMERS IN EIGHT

CLAY CENTER, Kan., May 5.—The Colorado Springs team won a rather one-sided game from the local team today by a score of 15 to 9. The factors were four home runs in the eighth by the Springs team. The Springs team loaned a battery to the local team and defeated their own pitcher. Batteries for Clay Center were Weeks and Swift, Colorado Springs, Haven and McDaniel.

PING BODIE IS WHITE SOX HERO

CHICAGO, May 5.—Chicago increased its lead for top position in the American league to three full games, defeating Cleveland, Neil Ball, famous for making a triple play unassisted, practically gave Chicago the game. He held the ball after failing to catch Collins' stealing second in the sixth inning, and watched Bodie race home with the winning run. Bodie scored both runs and also made two doubles.

Score: Chicago, 5; Cleveland, 2. R.H.E. Chicago, 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—2 8 4. Cleveland, 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 9 1. Morridge and Block; Kahler and Easterly. Two-base hits—Bodie, 2; Rirmingham, 2. First base on balls—Off Morridge, 2; Kahler, 3. Struck out—By Kahler, 6; Morridge, 2.

GEORGIA PEACH AGAIN STARS FOR TIGERS

DETROIT, May 5.—Ty Cobb's scorching start in the eighth ended Shorten and before the latter could get it, Bush and Cobb scored the runs which enabled Detroit to defeat St. Louis. Cobb retired the side in the seventh, two of the catches being spectacular.

Score: Detroit, 5; St. Louis, 2. R.H.E. Detroit, 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 2—7 2. St. Louis, 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 2—3 9 0. Lake and Stephens; Willett and Stange. Two-base hits—Bush, Stange, Beaumann, Velt. Home run—Pratt. First base on balls—Off Lake, 3; Willett, 2. Struck out—By Lake, 5; Willett, 2.

To Organize City League

At a meeting to be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, at the Powell-Dunser sporting goods store, plans to organize a city or county baseball league will be discussed. Much interest has been aroused by the proposal to organize this league, and several teams have announced a willingness to enter. It is planned to include the best of amateur and semiprofessional talent. The crack Robbins line will be one of the contenders, as will the Powell-Dunser team. A representative from the city to the south is anxious to be represented, and Manitou may also be included in the list of clubs. It is the intention to play games once a week during the summer.

ENGLISH RUNNER SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

NEW YORK, May 5.—In an international 15-mile race at Cetto park today, A. E. Wood, the English 10-mile champion, won from a field of 12 professionals, and made a new world's record of 78 minutes 15 seconds. William Quail of Alexandria Bay, N. Y., finished second, about 700 yards behind. Al Shrubbs of England was third. Henry St. Yves of France quit at 10 miles.

The former record, 80 minutes and 45 seconds was made by Charles Appleton at Glasgow, Scotland, several years ago.

COFFEE CLEARS SACKS FOR BEARS

DENVER, May 5.—A homerun by Coffee with one man on base and Lindsey's two-base hit, which brought in two scores, featured today's game, bringing Denver's total of games won in succession to five.

Score: R.H.E. Topeka, 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—2 8 4. Denver, 0 2 0 0 5 0 0 0—7 9 2. Fugate and Schmidt; Healey and Spahr. Two-base hits—Lindsey and King. Three-base hit—Lee. Home run—Coffee. Struck out—By Healey, 6; Fugate, 3. First base on balls—Off Healey, 1; Fugate, 5. Left on bases—Denver, 3; Topeka, 5.

OMAHA TAKES FIRST FROM LEAGUE LEADERS

OMAHA, May 5.—Omaha took the first game of the series with St. Joseph here, Hall, pitching for Omaha, was tight in the panache and kept the eight hits off him scattered.

Score: R.H.E. Omaha, 1 1 0 0 2 0 1 0—5 9 3. St. Joseph, 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 1—3 8 7. Hall and Arbogast; Freeman and Castle.

DURHAM EASILY HOLDS TAILENDERS SAFE

WICHITA, May 5.—Lincoln could do nothing with Durham, and Wichita won easily, running catches of foul flies by Craig and Cobb were features. Callahan, at short for Wichita, played a spectacular game.

Score: R.H.E. Wichita, 1 0 1 1 3 1 0 0—7 12 1. Lincoln, 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 9 1. Durham and Clemens; Wagner, Wolfen and Stratton.

HEAVY WIND SCORES
MOST OF ALLIES
SIOUX CITY, May 5.—Red Faber pitched winning ball. Three of the runs in today's game resulted from the heavy wind carrying the ball out of reach of the fielders. The game was stopped for 20 minutes on account of rain in the sixth.

Score: R.H.E. Sioux City, 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0—2 2 1. Des Moines, 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 9 0. Brown and Cadman; Faber and Ulatowski. Two-base hits—Reilly, Curtis. Home run—Thomas. First base on balls—Off Brown, 2; Faber, 4. Struck out—By Brown, 6; Faber, 5.

MARTY O'TOOLE WAS GENEROUS

CHICAGO, May 5.—Marty O'Toole made his Chicago debut by suffering a defeat at the hands of Chicago. Although pitching in fine form, he became wild at critical times, the locals taking advantage of his generosity.

Score: R.H.E. Chicago, 0 1 0 0 2 0 1 2—4 10 1. Pittsburgh, 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—2 9 1. Ritchie and Archer; O'Toole and Gibson. Three-base hits—Zimmerman, 2. First base on balls—Off O'Toole, 6. Struck out—By O'Toole, 6; Ritchie, 4.

NINTH-INNING RALLY NEARLY SAVES CARDS

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—In a game full of interest from start to finish today, Cincinnati won from St. Louis. The visitors started the scoring early and scored in all but three innings. The home team rallied in the ninth, but fell short by three runs. Ellis started the inning by getting a homerun, his act of the day. Mowery went out, Konechky dropped the ball into the stands for a homerun, a single, an out and a pass brought another run.

Score: R.H.E. St. Louis, 1 1 1 3 0 0 0 2—9 10 2. Cincinnati, 1 0 1 4 3 1 0 3—11 12 2. Willis, Dug, Laudermilk and Wingo; Smith, Humphries, Bagby and McLean. Two-base hits—Konechky, Wingo, Hoblitzell. Three-base hits—Konechky, Hoblitzell. Home run—Ellis. Left on bases: First base on balls—Off Smith, 1; Dale, 4; Willis, 4; Benton, 2; Humphries, 1; Bagby, 1. Struck out—By Humphries, 1; Dale, 4; Bagby, 3.

Centennial and Cutler Today

Cutler and Centennial will mix at Washburn field this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, for the second time this season. The Pueblos captured the first game, 6 to 2, scoring five of their runs in one inning. During the rest of the contest, the academy boys more than held their own with the Centennial team.

Those of Centennial and Captain Dickenson of Cutler will be the opposing twirlers, and both are in fine shape, presaging a good game. The local team has been putting in some hard work the last few days, and are going into the contest to win.

"IZZY" HOFFMAN GIVES POINTERS TO FIELDERS

A good outfielder is a man who can give on battery. That is the most important part of an outfielder's work. Of course an outfielder must be a judge of fly balls, possess a strong arm and cover his territory, but the principal study of the outfield is getting a "line" on the batters that is, knowing where they usually hit and play accordingly in the proper place to handle the ball if it is hit there.

In order to size up a batter, however, the pitcher must be working right. A great many pitchers, like Tyler Christian, are called "nucky," "horseshoe" and other terms which they do not deserve. They usually win their games because they are playing with the team and have the confidence of their team mates. An outfielder can see the catcher's signs and usually knows whether a curve or straight ball is going to be thrown. He can then play his position if he knows a pitcher like Christian is going to throw just what the catcher wants.

For instance, with a right-handed batter up and on a curve ball sign, the left fielder can be in position to start for center field. A man like Christian makes the batters hit where the fielders are playing for them, and that accounts for his success.

My greatest criticism of the outfielders of today is that 90 per cent of them are afraid that the ball is going to be hit over their heads and play back too far. As a result an average of twenty-five balls are hit safely in front of them, while only one goes over their heads. The reason for this is that it is easier to come in on a ball than running back for a fly. I think, however, that if an outfielder should practice playing in closer and cutting off many of the safe drives he would get accustomed in time to going back after a fly.

My experience in playing all three outfield positions gives me the opinion that right field is the hardest position to play as it should be played. There is not nearly so much sacrifice hitting in baseball as several years ago, for the hit-and-run play has taken its place to a marked degree. The hit-and-run play is usually pulled off with the batter hitting to right field, and this makes a lot of chances coming to the right fielder. There is more opportunity with the first baseman playing up close and the second baseman covering second for the batter to fit to right, and it is up to the right fielder to break up the play and keep the runner on first from going to third in case the play is carried through.

The next hardest field is left. By all means a left fielder should be a right-hand thrower. Most of the balls hit into that territory are to his right, even when he is playing close to the left-field foul line. The greatest number of plays for the left fielder are in throwing to second base, and a right-hand thrower is in a natural position to get to second base, where the plays generally come up.

The easiest position of all is center field. There are more balls right to center than the other two fields and more ground to cover, but the balls hit to center are easy to handle. When a ball is hit to center there is little or no curve on it and the ball is easy to hold. Every ball has something on it, but the ones hit to left and right carry some sort of a curve or rise, which make them hard to judge and handle.

There are two kinds of balls hard for the outfielder to play, and I tell you they are hard. One is the hardest to catch and the other is the hardest to judge. The hard ball to judge is the one hit to center field directly over second on a line with the players. It is hit perfectly straight and has a slight rise, which causes the fielder to under-run it. The ball is called the straightaway and has no curve at all. It raises about two or three inches and comes on such a direct line with the eye that it is almost impossible to judge it. I consider it the hardest ball in baseball to judge.

The ball hardest to catch is one that is often overlooked by the sporting writers, as well as the fans. It is not that catch made while running with the ball which brings forth a cheer nine times out of ten and is one of the easiest balls in the business to handle, but the one known as the shoestring ball. It is the "Texas League" popped up just out of the reach of the infielders. You have to catch the ball of your shoestrings while on the dead run and when the ball hits your glove it has such force that it pulls you forward and is most difficult to hold.

The main strength of any team should be in its outfield. Outfielders should be good hitters and base runners. An ordinary outfielder should be a .275 hitter, but out on the Coast some allowances should be made. Everything is against the outfielder. There are high skies, change of climate and a most bothersome wind.

There are a few points in playing the outfield that a youngster should know. The correct way to catch a fly and make the peg to the plate are important features. The correct way is to stand back three or four steps from the way the ball is going to fall and then get a running start and be in motion to make the throw to the plate. If you are set and have to step around you lose as much as 10 yards of speed in making the peg to the plate. Of course, you must figure your runner and if he happens to be a slow man you can play it safe and set yourself before the peg.

In judging fly balls the eyes must be trained. It takes lots of practice and in course of time an outfielder can judge just about where a fly is going to drop by the crack of the bat.

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 5.—Yussif Hussane, the Terrible Turk, lost his handicap match here tonight with Tommy Ryan of Colorado Springs. The Turk agreed to throw Ryan twice in one hour and if he failed, to forfeit the match. Ryan's shoulders were pinned to the mat in the first bout in 12½ minutes with a bar lock. It came back strong, however, and in the remaining 40 minutes the Turk was unable to throw him.

Joe Burns has challenged Hussane for a return match under the same handicap as that given Ryan, with the toe and strangle holds barred.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and it makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases.

MOTHER'S FRIEND
Is sold at drug stores.
Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

The Jungfrau tunnel, which pierces in a semicircular direction one of the highest mountains in Switzerland has been carried up to the site of another station, the Jungfrau, 11,400 feet above the sea. It is hoped that the tunnel will be finished in 1914. One of the most magnificent panoramas in the Alps heretofore seen only by the expert mountain climber will then be brought within reach of the average tourist.

AN INFALLIBLE GUIDE

The Rev. Lincoln McConnell, D. D., who is delivering a series of lectures at the First Presbyterian church this week, is a speaker of unusual force and personality. Educated for a lawyer, he served four years as assistant prosecuting attorney at Atlanta, Ga. During his student life he became a skeptic, but in trying to obtain proofs to support his lack of faith, learned the truth of his present belief. In the lecture here he will try to prove the very things against which he argued in his time of disbelief.

Last night his theme was "Conscience Not an Infallible Guide." He asserted that one's conscience works only as a guide, and never prescribes the law. "Belief does not alter fact," he said. A striking illustration given by the speaker was that of the engineer who becomes color blind. "Though the danger signal be turned against him," he declared, "nevertheless just as surely will the train go into the switch."

In McConnell's subject this evening will be "Why Was the Bible Written?" Tomorrow he will address a men's meeting on "A Fallen King," Wednesday evening a subject will be "Is Jesus Christ a God or a Man?" Other subjects will be announced later.

Based on his calculations on figures obtained through the marriage and death records, Dr. Joseph Jacobs estimates the Jewish population of New York at 866,400. Of these about 10 per cent are native born of native parents, as against 103 per cent of the population in general, while another 20 per cent are native born of foreign parentage. The statement shows further that two-thirds of the Jews who came to this country from 1880 to 1905 were from Russia, and that of the population in question, five-ninths are Russian and two-ninths Austrian.

Roast Young Chicken

The most critical taste will be pleased with Cresca French Poulet, or Roast Young Chicken in genuine apple jelly. As a delicacy for the invalid it is ideal, as it combines deliciousness of flavor with great nourishment.

The chicken are bred in France and are fed on specially prepared food to develop strength and flavor in the meat. They are roasted on a spit before an open fire and then packed in this with real apple jelly.

There is nothing finer on the market.
